Dear Mr. Kevin Byrd,

In acknowledgment of September Being National Prostate Cancer Awareness Month, I Dan Han stand united with the Brown Byrd Foundation in the Health Service Sector of informing the masses about the awareness of Prostate Cancer among men, which includes the Asian American Community. Prostate Cancer is a disease that has no color, no race, no discrimination but can attack and affect any male. I believe just as The Brown Byrd Foundation does, that it is important to inform all men and their families about healthy living and Prostate Cancer Awareness and how the two-work hand and hand.

Although Asian Americans, which includes Korean American Men are in the low 50 percentile of men affected overall, it is still important to know and inform oneself, one's neighbor and one's community. Every 9 seconds a man is diagnosed with Prostate Cancer within the United States. This Year alone there will roughly be an estimate of 268,490 men in the United States that will be diagnosed with Prostate Cancer. In 2020 Worldwide, an estimate of 1,414,250 men were diagnosed with Prostate Cancer making Prostate Cancer the 4th most commonly diagnosed cancer in the world. These numbers included Korean Americans as well.

It is time for all Nations, Countries, States, Communities to take a stand in the fight against Prostate Cancer and Queens in the City of New York is a great place to start in the Korean American Community. I fully support the efforts of The Brown Byrd Foundation and its community outreach programing and service that gives a platform for men to open up about their health and to take action towards healthy living. This Awareness has helped Korean Americans in Queens by being an active and visible action health awareness resource within the community. I give this letter of support to an outstanding organization that illustrates and shares the same social and community values as The Korean American Association of Queens (KAAQ) and cares about their neighbor of Queens Health.

Sincerely,

Daniel Han
